

Civil Air Patrol, Maryland Wing
Carroll members tasked and trained at Squadron MD039 SAREX 03/13/2011

Photo credit:

(Photos 1 through 10) Stacey Bowen, First Lieutenant, CAP
(Photos 11 & 12) Cadet Second Lieutenant Joshua Bowen, CAP

Capt. Joe Moltz (seated, left) gives C/Amn Bjorn Abrahamzon (seated, right) an orientation of CAP's on-line tools for recording his ES tasks and training. C/Capt. Rick Stuart (rear) observes.

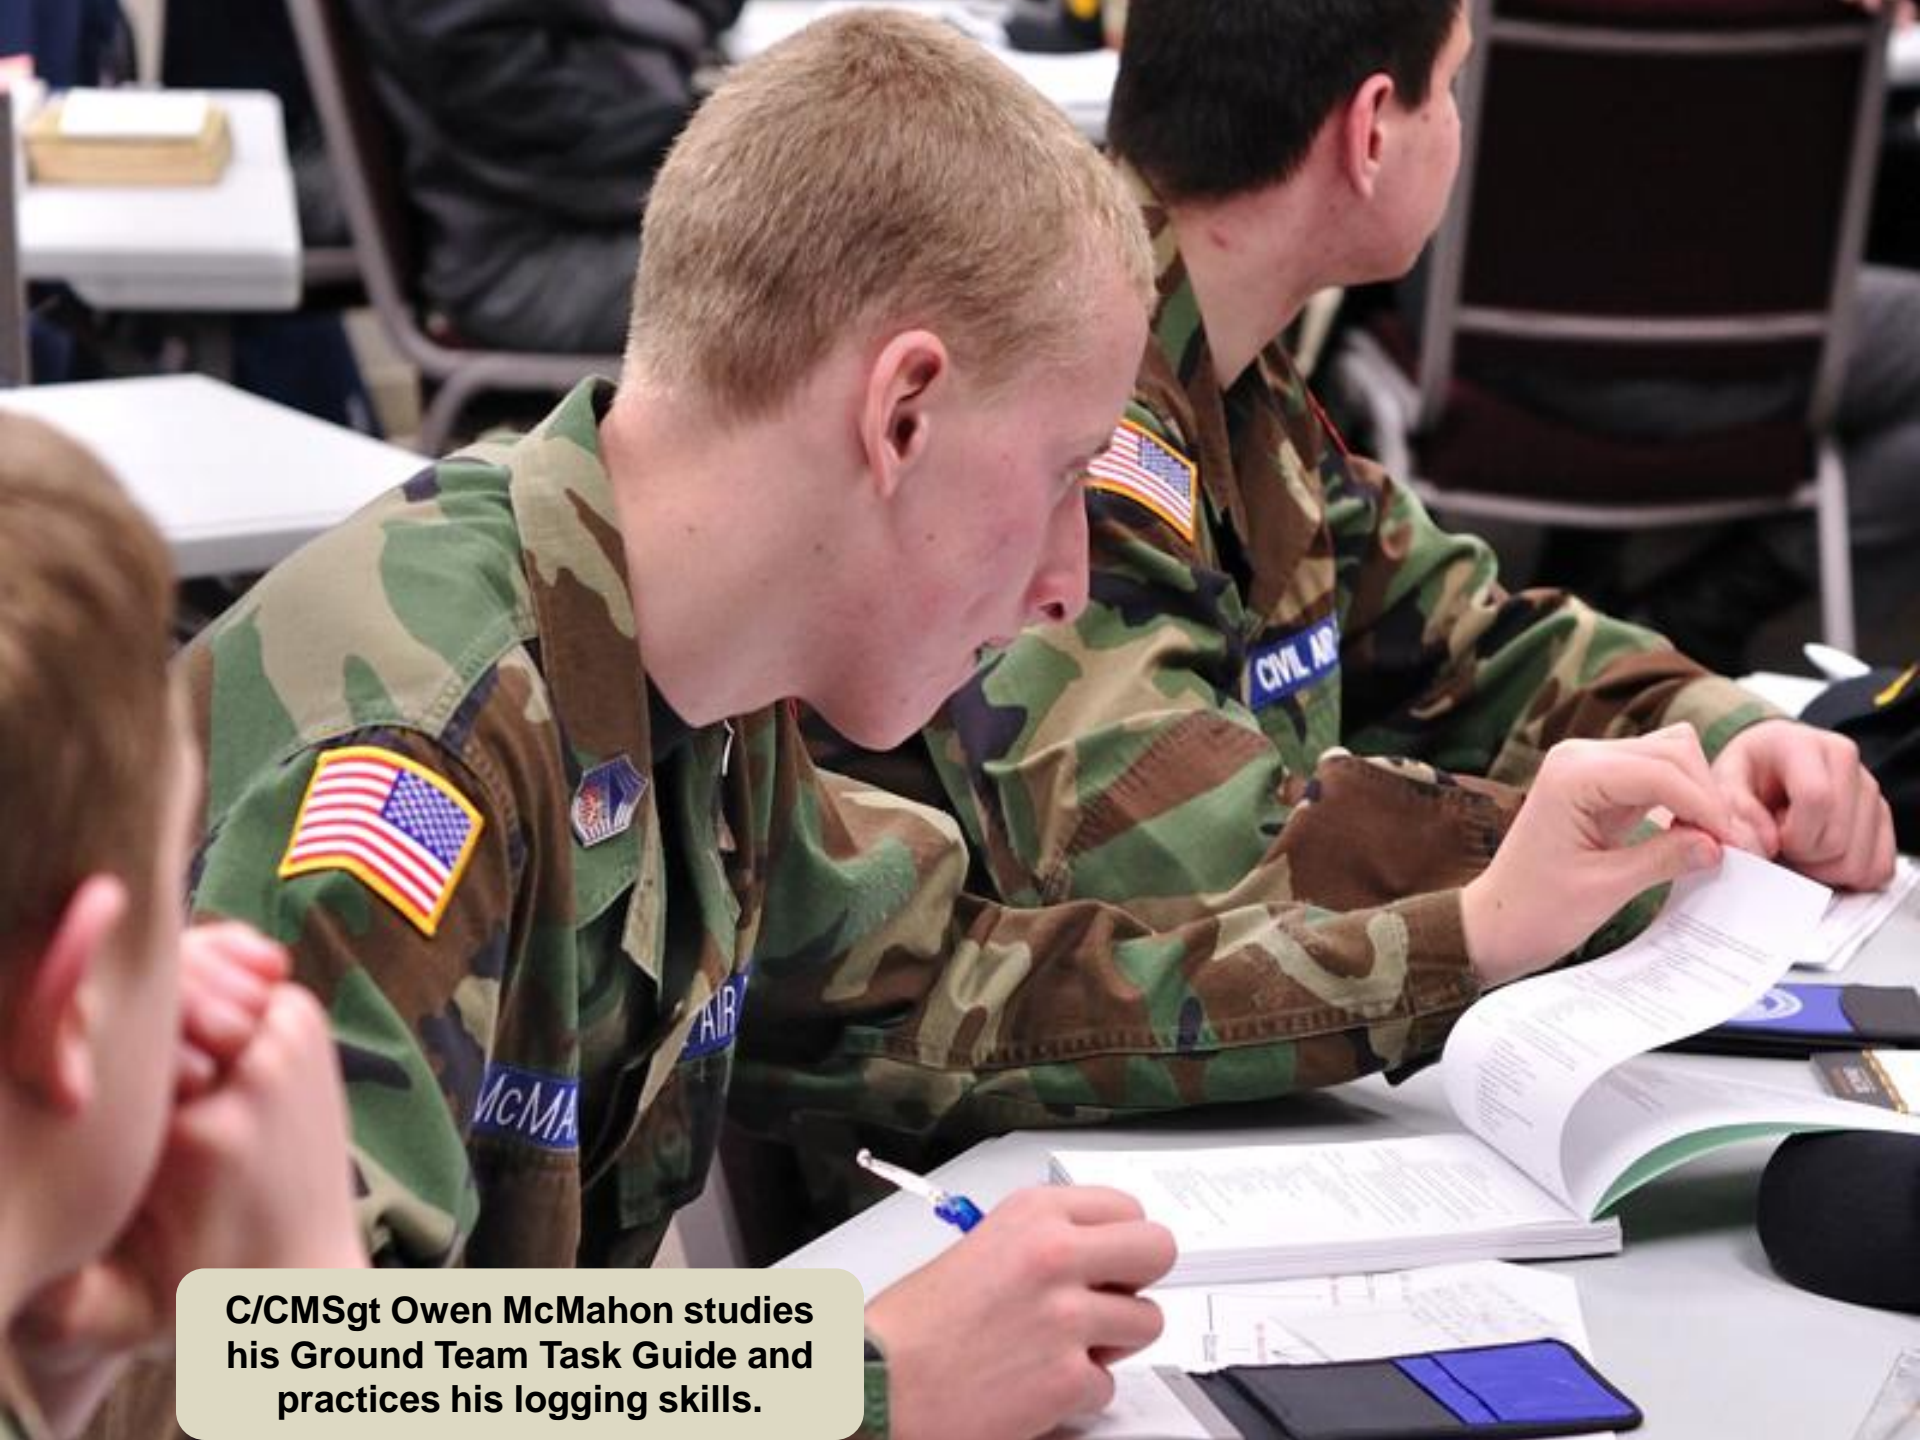

2nd. Lt. Cole Brown emphasizes the importance of an efficient call down system.

SM Tyler Czarnowsky prepares to demonstrate the squadron's new ES alerting system, making sure all personnel contacts are entered.

Capt. Rick Stuart gives a class on utilizing the CAP grid system to coordinate ground and air operations.

C/CMSgt Owen McMahan studies his Ground Team Task Guide and practices his logging skills.

C/Capt. Rick Stuart (left) reviews and assesses shelter building skills for C/1st Lt. Katie Kerr (seated, left), and C/MSgt Chris Davis (seated, right).

Group 2 ES Officer Major Mike Zabetakis (front) speaks to trainees about van inspections.

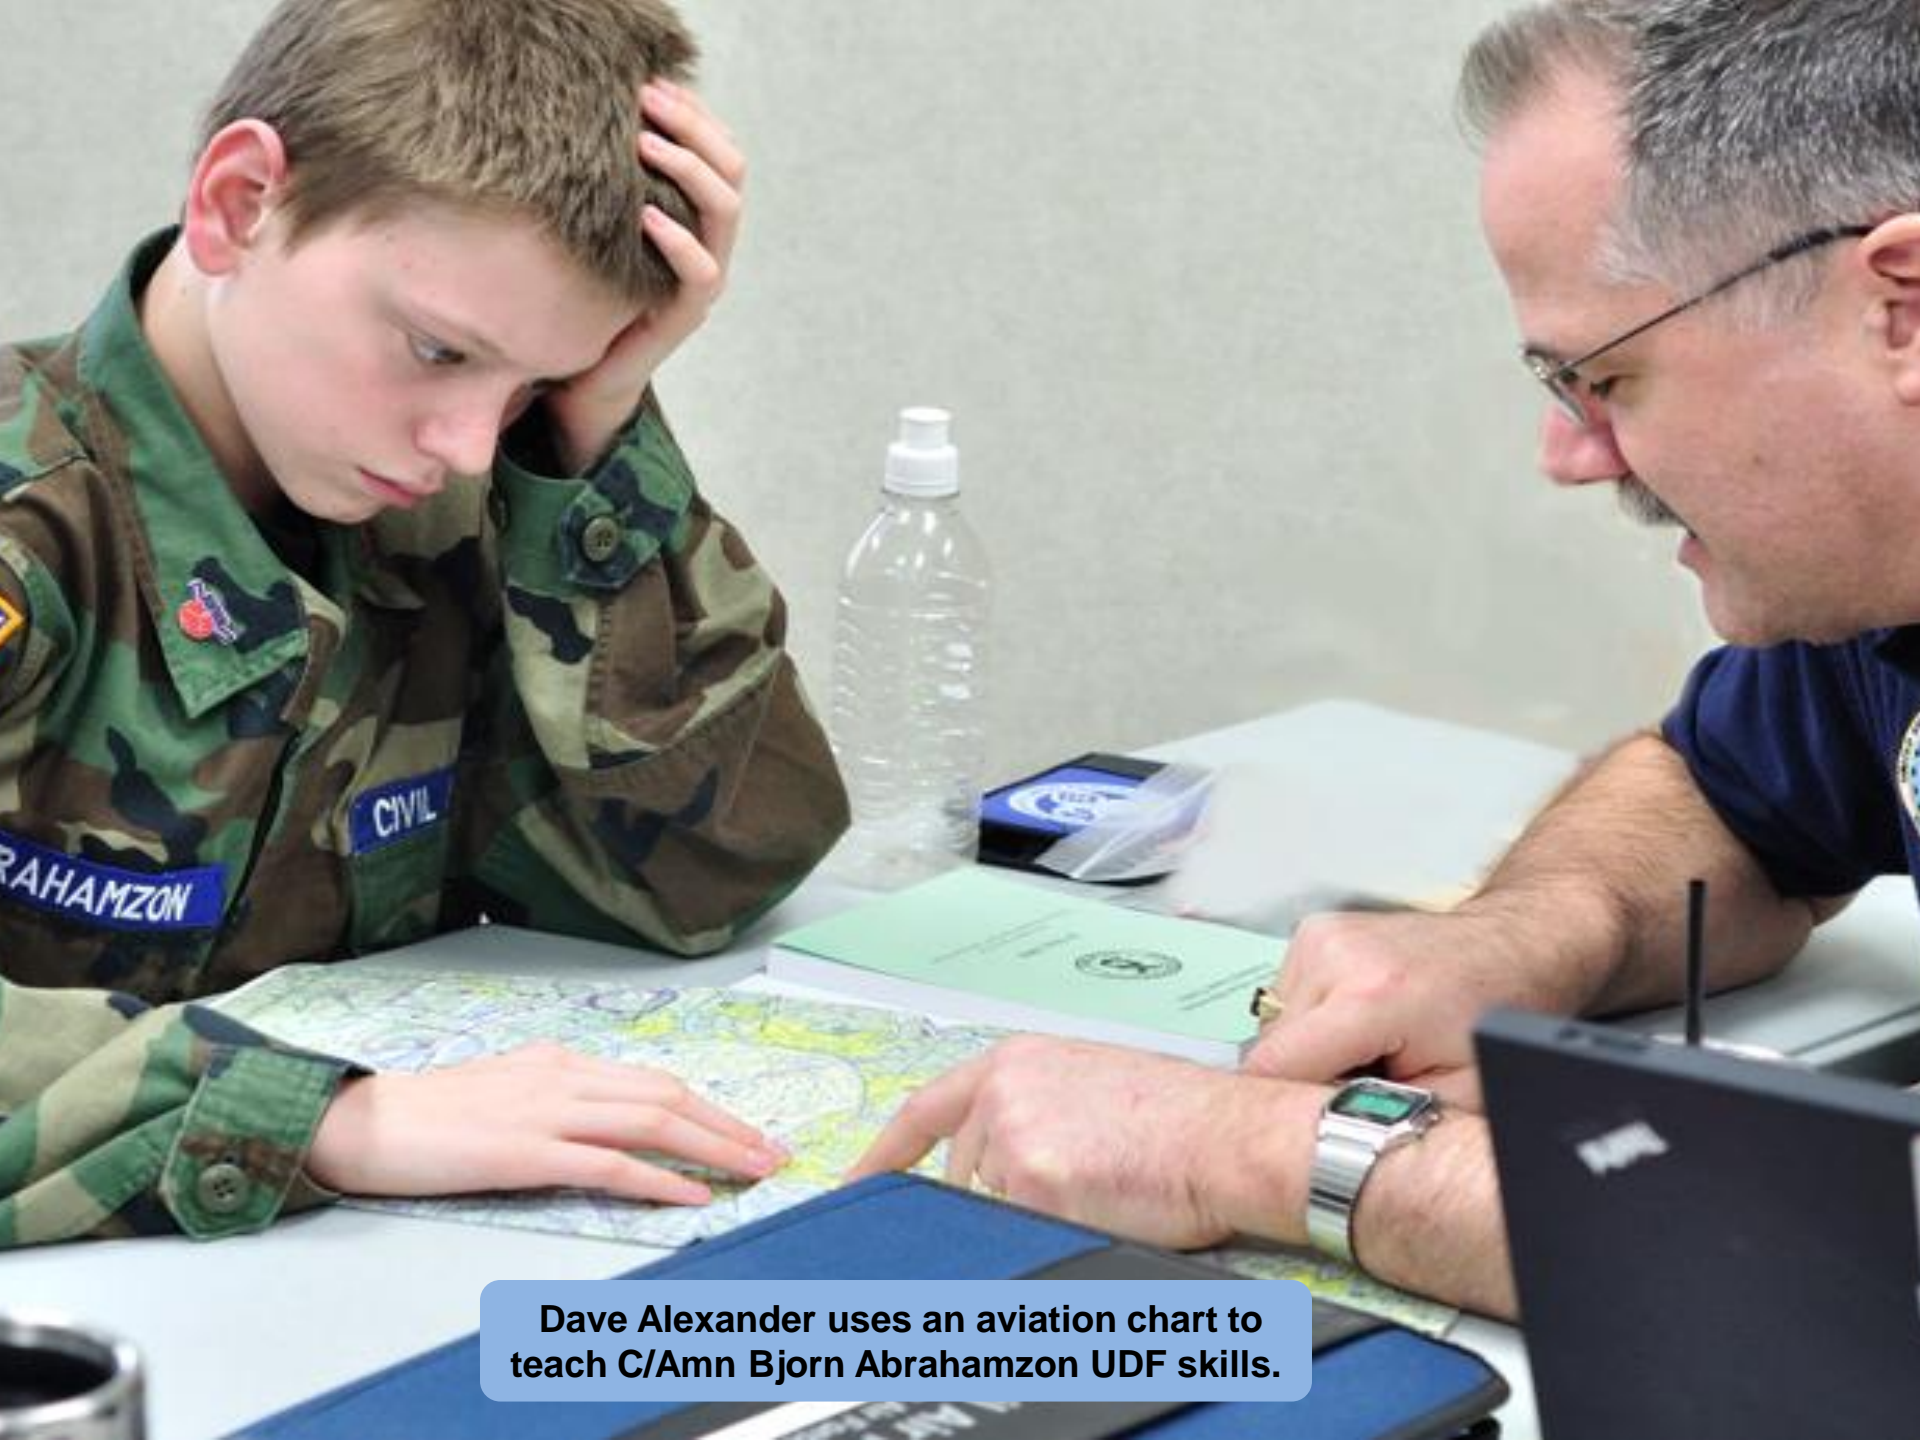

C/SrAmn Griffin Delisle checks tire pressure on Carroll Squadron's van, while C/Amn Katelyn Davis reviews the safety checklist and C/Amn Logan Balaz (far right) observes

Group 2 ES Officer Major Mike Zabetakis checks the oil as C/Amn Katelyn Davis, C/Amn Logan Balaz, and Safety Officer 1st Lt. Joe Manning observe.

Dave Alexander uses an aviation chart to teach C/Amn Bjorn Abrahamzon UDF skills.

Cadet Rick Stuart consults a map and relies on his land navigation skills as he trains to be a Ground Team Leader.

Cadet Joe Mack uses the L-per, a device specially designed to pick up the signal sent by an Emergency Locating Transmitter, during the field training exercise.

